

Coach with Rilla

Rilla allows you to ride-along with every rep, every time.

“This should be the first tool you consider when trying to scale up your business. The level of sales growth we’ve seen from Rilla’s ride-alongs has been unreal, and our service team has never been more on process. For many of our techs, it’s doubled their average sale, and I see it as critical to fueling our growth to $1B.”

Tommy Mello, CEO & Founder
A1 Garage Door Service

Increase your close rates

Rilla gives your managers the visibility and accountability to maximize their team’s close rates.

Save time and be more effective

Ride-along on every appointment, every time – and in minutes instead of hours with AI.

Raise your average ticket

Rilla guarantees that your reps are always following your process and getting the most out of each sale.

Have questions?

Visit rilla.com for more details.

FAQs

1. Is this legal?

Yes. It is perfectly legal to record conversations with homeowners.

If you are in one of the following 10 states, you must obtain consent before you do so: California, Massachusetts, Maryland, Illinois, Connecticut, Washington, Montana, Pennsylvania, and Oregon.

Visit <https://www.rilla.com/faq> for detailed recommendations on how to get consent easily.

2. How do reps feel about recording their conversations?

At first, your top performers will hate this. Your middle pack will be concerned. And your newer reps will embrace it. It takes everyone a few recordings to lose the fear.

After 1 month of using Rilla, your reps become 40-50% better at selling. At this point, the fear is completely gone and your team becomes addicted.

3. How does the AI work?

We take your sales process and train our AI on it thousands of times so it knows it inside and out.

The AI is custom-tailored to your company, market, and process.

4. How long does it take to get set up?

It takes 1 hour and 45 minutes... that's it! It really is that easy. Book a demo and see for yourself.